FOREWORD

THE GUIDE TO SHOPS AND SERVICE comes to you on its fifth birthday, a veritable Treasure Chest !

Lift the cover and discover :

An additional index which helps to solve the " where to find " and " where to go " problems of every social and business day.

A new and constructive grouping of all headings under larger main headings.

A few timely suggestions for " When in New York. "

THE GUIDE TO SHOPS AND SERVICE, as it now stands, is a full grown publication. It is also a direct product of a continued and careful selection by the Committee of Censors, and a splendid partnership between our advertisers and our Club. No partnership can stand still. But it can be permanent, and for this it must grow. Our advertisers offer us better merchandise and service each year. If our response is evident, the partnership will overflow the Treasure Chest !

GUIDE
SHOPS AND SERVICE

FOREWORD

THE GUIDE TO SHOPS AND SERVICE makes its sixth appearance in a new cover, but with the same high aims and purposes that have characterized it since its beginning. It was created in the first place in order to furnish the members of the WOMEN'S CITY CLUB OF BOSTON with authentic information regarding shops and services that could be recommended for superior quality. It exists solely for that purpose today.

It is an advertising medium of a superlative order in that its listings are carefully selected from the most reliable sources. The Publicity Committee, acting as a Committee of Censors, votes upon each one, spending much time and thought in order that the Club may be well served.

The Guide is a permanent institution, but its value can be increased greatly through co-operation with the merchants. They support the Guide. The Club members should respond by patronizing them.

What to See On Beacon Hill

STATE HOUSE, near the City Club Fine example of Bulfinch architecture. Contains historic paintings and war relics. The gilded dome of this edifice, which surmounts the summit of Beacon Hill, is a landmark for many miles around the city.

BOSTON COMMON, containing forty-four acres. This famous tract of land was purchased in 1634 by the people of Boston from Rev. Wm. Blaxton for £30, and was set aside for common use as a cow pasture and training field.

NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, 9 Ashburton Place, near the State House. One of the great centers for antiquarian research.

PARK STREET CHURCH, corner Park and Tremont Sts. Erected 1810. "America" sung for first time in this church.

OLD GRANARY BURYING GROUND, Tremont St., between Beacon and Park. Here lie many famous old Bostonians, including early governors, Paul Revere, parents of Benjamin Franklin, victims of Boston Massacre, "Mother Goose" and many others.

KING'S CHAPEL AND KING'S CHAPEL BURYING GROUND, corner of Tremont and School Sts. First chapel built in 1686, present one in 1749. Place of worship for British soldiers during siege. First burying place in Boston.

HARRISON GRAY OTIS HOUSE, 141 Cambridge St. Built 1795 and now home of Society for Preservation of New England Antiquities. Contains rare furniture, pottery, glass, costumes and miscellaneous antiques.

GREEN DRAGON TAVERN, 80-86 Union St. Used as a tavern and lodge rooms by St. Andrew's Lodge of Free Masons, where meetings of the patriots were held previous to the Revolution. Site marked by tablet.

OLD CORNER BOOK STORE, oldest bookstore in Boston. Established 1828 in a quaint building on corner of Washington and School Sts., present location 50 Bromfield Street.

SHAW MEMORIAL, Boston Common, on Beacon St. Mall, opposite State House. A memorial to Col. Robert G. Shaw and the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts Regiment. Perhaps the most famous example among the sculptures of Augustus Saint-Gaudens.

LOUISBURG SQUARE, the center of Boston's oldest and most exclusive residential section on Beacon Hill. The doors of its houses are noted for their quaint and dignified beauty. Site of William Blaxton's garden.

Guide to
Shops and Service
1928-1929

Foreword

SEVEREN years ago, when the Guide to Shops and Service made its first appearance, it was with the avowed intention of furnishing to members of the Women's City Club and their many friends authentic information regarding the shops and the services that could be relied upon for superior quality of merchandise and workmanship. Today, after seven years, the purpose of the Guide remains the same.

Its superlative quality as an advertising Guide is recognized alike by members and merchants. Its listings are made only after recommendations from reliable sources. The Publicity Committee acts as a Board of Censors and carefully scrutinizes each one, spending much time and thought that this service may prove of real value to the Club.

The Guide has become a permanent institution. It means to keep abreast of the times, to offer its columns to the newcomer who has a real service or shop of merit, and to retain among its old friends those of proven worth. Its dress may change from year to year, but its standards are unchangeable. The value of the Guide may be increased greatly through co-operation with the merchants. Members are asked to patronize Guide advertisers, on whom they may rely absolutely for service and quality. They support the Guide. The Club should help to support them.

Elizabeth Ellam, Editor.
